For what purposes is your personal data processed?

The data is processed for the purposes of managing various science events (conferences, seminars, etc.) organised by the University of Granada.

This personal data is used for:

- Managing registration and participation in the event.
- Issuing credentials.
- Issuing certificates accrediting attendance or participation.

Is there an obligation to provide data? What are the consequences of not doing so?

Failure to provide the requested data will make it impossible to achieve the purpose or purposes of the data processing.

Estimated storage period:

The data will be stored for the time required to achieve the purpose for which it was collected and to establish any possible liabilities that may arise from said purpose and from the data processing.

In this regard, the documents containing the personal data necessary to accredit studies undertaken will be stored indefinitely.

Automated decision-making, profiles, and logic applied:

Your data will not be used for automated decision-making or profiling.

What are the legal grounds for the processing of your data?

The University of Granada is entitled to process your data under the provisions of:

- Art. 6.1.e) of the GDPR: processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller.
- Organic Law 2/2023, of 22 March, of the University System.
- Law 14/2011, of 1 June, on Science, Technology and Innovation.

Which recipients will your data be communicated?
